Wings In The News

Our Mission

Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation, was established in 1987. Our mission is to provide college scholarships to dependent children and spouses of all US Navy - officer and enlisted - active duty, retired, honorably discharged or deceased who served within Naval Air Forces. Recipients are selected on the basis of scholastic merit, community service and extra curricular activities.

Wings Over America annually sponsors over forty scholarships to students who have chosen to continue their education. The foundation is funded solely through the generous contributions of private and corporate sources, and has proudly awarded over $375,000 to outstanding students since 1987.

Mr. Dan Keck, a former Naval Aviator, visits with WOASF staff, Christine Wilson and Eileen O'Hanlon, on behalf of supporters in the Midwest and Canada

From The President

It continues to be a busy time in the Wings office. We are busy getting ready to go through all of the applications coming in and choose this year's winners. We are very excited to announce that because of the generous contributions of our donors, Wings is offering the first renewable scholarship to a worthy high school senior. The Captain Johnny "Turk" Green Memorial Scholarship for $10,000 will be awarded over four years and our first "Turk" Green Scholar will be chosen this May.

We've also started planning our annual Wings Golf Tournament scheduled for May 28th at the Aeropines Golf Course on Oceana.

With the approach of the 100th Anniversary of the first aircraft takeoff from a ship, we are celebrating the flight made by Eugene Ely from the USS Birmingham on November 14th, 1910. WOASF will be hosting several special events as part of the celebration. We are in the process of organizing a golf tournament, a 10K Run the Runway on Naval Station Norfolk and a Movie Night in the theater at Nauticus Museum. It promises to be an exciting weekend. The official Centennial of Naval Aviation in 2011 will include events at Naval Air Stations across the country and WOASF will be part of some of those events, too. This will be an exciting time for Naval Aviation and the Foundation.

Our first Tennis Tournament held in December in partnership with Dolphin and Anchor Scholarship Foundations was a success. We want to thank Susan Hunter and our great committee of volunteers and players for their outstanding support.

All of these events have something in common. Without the generous contributions of time and talent from our wonderful volunteers at fundraisers and in the scholarship selection process, we wouldn't be able to provide these scholarships. On behalf of our scholarship recipients, thank you.

-Eileen O'Hanlon, WOASF President and CEO

Wings Over America Scholarship Fund is announcing its greatest and largest scholarship to honor one of the greatest human beings with the largest of American hearts, Captain Johnny “Turk” Green.
-by Joyce White

John would state he was successful in the Navy because it gave him the opportunity for education. His passion was Naval Aviation and he would tell everyone he was “The Happiest Sailor in the Navy”. The John “Turk” Green Memorial Scholarship reinforces Turk’s legacy of bold leadership while enforcing his steadfast support of educational opportunities for our military families.

John was raised in Missouri with seven siblings, the son of a prison guard and grandson of a turkey farmer. Turk enlisted in the Navy becoming an electronics technician and eventually serving on the Presidential Yacht, USS Sequoia, during President Nixon’s administration.

John met Barbara Hawkins, the daughter of a retired Air Force Colonel, on a visit back home. They married and moved to Washington, DC, where Barbara completed her undergraduate degree. Subsequently, she supported John as he earned his degree in electrical engineering at the University of Missouri as part of the Navy’s commissioning program (NESEP). From there, John embarked upon a career which would see him blossom as a skilled aviator, mariner, motivational leader, and distinguished Naval Officer. First as a Light Attack pilot in the A-7, and then as part of the initial Strike Fighter cadre in the F-18, John was known for his superb work ethic and professionalism. His positive attitude and contagious enthusiasm, coupled with his wife’s never ending support of Navy life, earned both a large following of friends and fans. As Turk served his country and military families, Barb was active in every squadron and command spouse club, while working professionally and raising two lovely children, Shannon and Kyle. Barb served as President of the Cecil Field Officers’ Spouse Club where they raised money for annual scholarships benefiting children and spouses.

Following Strike Fighter Command in Atsugi Japan, John completed Naval Nuclear Power Training. As Executive Officer of USS HARRY TRUMAN, he arrived one month before the Nation’s newest aircraft carrier was commissioned in Norfolk, VA. Relocating his family to Bremerton, WA, John assumed command of the USS CAMDEN, the first American warship on site to provide assistance and support to the USS COLE after it was attacked off the coast of Yemen in 2000.

The Green family once again returned to Norfolk where John served as the Chief of Staff for Commander, Naval Air Force Atlantic. Barbara continued her many efforts in support of our Navy families while serving on the Wings Over Atlantic Scholarship Foundation Committee. She held the offices of Treasurer and Secretary, and was crucial in organizing accounting practices to protect its investments. She was relentless in locating investors for the scholarships as her mantra was “Military families serve, too”. Simultaneously, she was President of Wings Over Atlantic Spouse Club whose focus was fellowship and education for Aviation spouses. All the while she worked full time at USPA-IRA/First Command.

At the request of COMNAVAIRLANT, Captain Green was sent to Mayport, Florida as Commanding Officer of the USS John F. Kennedy. Within weeks, he resurrected the morale and spirit of the sailors, resulting in 1,100 materials and engineering issues repaired or corrected before returning to his position at AIRLANT.

John then took Command of the USS Theodore Roosevelt becoming the only Naval Aviator to ever Command both a Nuclear Powered and Conventional Carrier. As Barbara continued to work, she served as advisor to the spouse groups, Ombudsmen and family members of the 2300 member crew. Whenever possible, she also accompanied John during his numerous speaking engagements to the Navy supporters near and far, often speaking herself on the concerns and lives of our Navy spouses and their children. She also worked courageously to raise funds to award scholarships for military families.

After commanding “TR” Captain Green was selected to be Chief of Staff, NORTHCOM in Colorado Springs, where he oversaw the planning, direction and execution of rescue and cleanup operations post Hurricane Katrina. Captain Green’s final tour as a Naval Officer was as Commanding Officer of the Cheyenne Mountain Complex. This mighty “Turk” lost his valiant battle with esophageal cancer in 2008.

Throughout their life of Naval Service, Captain John Green and his wife Barbara never shirked from responsibility or in seeking to improve themselves through continued growth and education as they enthusiastically encouraged all those around them to continue their professional training, personal growth and schooling. Years of inspirational leadership, dedication of personal time, tireless support, and sage guidance to our sailors and families became the impetus behind an effort to fund an ongoing scholarship in the Green’s honor.

The John “Turk” Green Memorial Scholarship has been endowed with $46,000 which will yield a $2500 yearly scholarship. The recipient will be awarded this amount for 4 years which will make this a $10,000 scholarship.

Is Johnny Green still the “Happiest Sailor in the Navy”.... YOU BET!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation Names Scholarship For President George H.W. Bush

When George H.W. Bush became the youngest U.S. Naval aviator at age 18 in 1942, who could have envisioned that 60 years later, a ceremony would take place naming the tenth Nimitz-class aircraft carrier after him? Ensign George H.W. Bush earned his wings and was assigned to Torpedo Squadron (VT-51) where he flew the Avenger (TBM). In the spring of 1944 his squadron joined the newly commissioned San Jacinto and then participated in operations against Marcus and Wake Islands. In one of the largest air battles of the war, in the Marianas Islands, Ensign Bush was forced to make a water landing after completing the mission. He and his crew were rescued by the USS Clarence K. Bronson, a destroyer. On September 2, 1944 newly promoted LT (JG) Bush flew one of the four aircraft from VT -51 that attacked the Japanese installations on Chi Chi Jima. During the mission, LT(JG) Bush's aircraft was hit by antiaircraft fire and his engine caught fire. He released the bombs over his target and flew several miles away and then ejected just before the plane exploded and hit the water. LT (JG) Bush was able to swim to his seat-cushion-turned-raft in the ocean and floated for four hours before being rescued by the submarine, USS Finback. As described by LT(JG) Nathaniel Adams, a Hellcat pilot on the same mission, during the beginning of those four hours, a number of small Japanese boats headed for the aviator in the water. The Hellcats prevented his probable capture and execution by diving and firing on the Japanese. The Hellcats then headed back to the carrier before they ran out of fuel. Astonishingly, as the Finback crew members helped Bush aboard the sub, their Public Affairs Officer filmed the rescue (This footage can now be seen in the museum aboard the USS GEORGE H.W. BUSH).

He returned to the USS San Jacinto and continued combat operations until the squadron, which lost fifty percent of its pilots, was replaced and sent back to the United States. LT (JG) Bush flew 58 missions and received the Distinguished Flying Cross, three Air Medals and the Presidential Unit Citation awarded San Jacinto.

In the next few years, the ship's namesake married Barbara Pierce and graduated from Yale University. He became a father, businessman, a congressman, Ambassador to the United Nations, Chairman of the Republic National Committee, Liaison Representative to China, Director of the CIA, Vice President and the 41st President of the United States of America. On January 10th 2009, the USS GEORGE H.W. BUSH was commissioned with the 41st and 43rd Presidents and family aboard. The ship's sponsor, President and Mrs. George H.W. Bush's daughter, Doro Bush Koch, gave the order to the Officers and Crew to "Man our ship and bring her to life!"

The Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation is proud to have President George H. W. Bush endorse our foundation. The Scholarship Foundation is extremely honored to name a scholarship in honor of President George H.W. Bush, a true American hero. Please contact our office if you would like to make a donation in honor of President Bush.

"As a Naval Aviator I understand the challenges these families face in support of their military member. WOASF works to provide college scholarships to dependents of Naval Aviation to help them realize their educational goals. I applaud the work of Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation and encourage others to support this worthy foundation."

-President George H.W. Bush

Silent Auction A Huge Success!

The Naval Aviation Officers' Spouses of Hampton Roads sponsored a Silent Auction to benefit WOASF and raised nearly $6,000.

The event was held last November at the NAS Oceana O Club. This was the second year the group has held the auction. Many of the Naval Aviation commands based in Hampton Roads donated themed baskets to be auctioned to attendees. This year there was also a live auction. A dinner on the water (donated by RDML & Mrs. Garry White), a car wash (donated by RADM O'Hanlon), aircraft washing (donated by Commodores Yager and Schrieber) were all part of the live auction. WOASF welcomes the support of other spouses groups in fundraising for the scholarships. All the money raised from the auction will help support our spouse scholarships.

Impressions From A Scholarship Reader

My name is Mary Lewis. I have been a Navy spouse for twenty-four years, but I grew up in the Navy as a Navy Junior. I have been reading scholarship applications for the Wings over America Scholarship Foundation for the last five years.

One Saturday every spring, a group of spouses gather to read through the scholarship applications. These readers come from a variety of backgrounds and perspectives. We have had college professors, high school counselors, stay-at-home moms and business people; most are Navy spouses, some are not. All give up part of their weekend to read through applications.

The reaction of first time readers is usually awe. They are impressed with the youth and spouse applications and accomplishments. By the time we finish reading our heartstrings have been pulled. We don't know the names of the candidates but we know their amazing stories.

The impression I leave with every year is that military dependents not only survive, they thrive. They come from around the world, they deal with separations and transitions, they get involved, they serve others and they lead. They make me proud. I always wish we could give each of them a scholarship.

I look forward with great anticipation to reading the stories of this year's amazing military dependents.

This Year Marks The Centennial of Naval Aviation

Eugene Burton Ely became the first aviator to take off from the deck of a ship on November 14, 1910, in Hampton Roads, Virginia. He flew a Curtiss Model D bi-plane from a platform constructed on the bow of the cruiser USS Birmingham. Rain and fog threatened to delay the flight, but Ely pressed on. Witnesses saw the daring aviator coast down the platform, drop to the bay, hit the water with a splash, rise again, and continue onward to a safe landing two and one-half miles away on Willoughby Spit. Though Ely was a civilian flyer and not part of the naval organization, his flights called attention to the possibilities of aircraft landing and taking off from ships.

There are many events planned to celebrate the Centennial of Naval Aviation so watch for more information in our next newsletter!

Scholarship Pre-Qualification Update

WOASF has seen a banner year for pre-qualification submissions for our scholarship. We have received over 130 new pre-qualification forms and have had over 30 return applicants, more than any other year. While this is a great achievement for WOASF, it also means that there is a growing number of students with a need for this scholarship. With that in mind, we hope that our donors and their contributions will continue to increase so we can meet the greater needs of our applicants.

Annual Campaign Is On A Roll!

The Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation's annual campaign is on a roll! As our annual campaign kicked off in the fall, we challenged our donors to meet the goal of $75,000. With half of our fiscal year still ahead of us, we are happy to report that we are three fourths of the way to meeting our goal. Our corporate donors have given nearly $30,000 to WOASF so far this year. Individual donors have donated more than $20,000 – a new benchmark!

This is a great start to meeting the goals of WOASF but we still have way to go. Our strategic vision calls for more renewable scholarships each year. In order to meet those goals we will have to increase the annual giving by 10% each year. We hope you can help us achieve those goals. First, if you haven't given yet this year, please consider doing so. If you have given, perhaps you can make a second donation this year- remember donations are tax deductible and every penny you donate goes directly to the scholarship fund. Second, consider us in your "planned giving". We can create a memorial or honor scholarship in a loved one's name that will be a lasting tribute to them. Third, spread the word! Unlike bigger foundations that can spend thousands of dollars on mailings, we rely on our supporters to share their knowledge of WOASF with others unfamiliar with our mission.

While we have already set a record for personal donations, we still encourage you to donate. No donation is too big or too small. A $50 donation can make a big impact on the foundation. A $500 donation can make a world of difference to one of our scholars. We also encourage you to come out to our many events this year. From golf to tennis, runways to museums; we have something for everyone. We thank you for all of your past and future support.

First Annual Grand Slam for Scholars Tennis Tournament a "Grand Success"

2009 marked the first-ever collaborative fundraiser for the Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation. We worked hand-in-hand with the Dolphin and Anchor Scholarship Foundations, raising over $4000 for our students, finding some new fabulous volunteers, and having a great time. We had a large turn-out for a first time tournament – over 50 players signed up, and over 65% of those were aviation players – so Wings was WELL represented, and we took home the bragging rights for the next year. Now that we've established ourselves as the team to beat, we need to pass the word so that we take home the gold in 2010.

The tournament was even more successful because of our long-time supporters including Northrop-Grumman, Geico and Navy Federal Credit Union. We also had new sponsors and individual "court" sponsors. The staff at the ODU Indoor Tennis Center were wonderful hosts and the tennis players commented on how much they enjoyed the chance to play inside on what was a cold and wet weekend. Stay tuned for a formal announcement in 2010 as we hope to be plan our tournament for the first weekend in December!

WOASF TREASURER POSITION OPEN

WOASF is looking for a new volunteer Treasurer to support the fundraising efforts and daily operations. Main duties include paying monthly bills, reconciling bank accounts, working with budgets, providing support for local fundraising events. This position also works with an outside payroll company for WOASF's one employee. Must be familiar with MS Excel and QuickBooks. As a member of the Board of Directors this position attends the quarterly board meetings. Time commitment is approximately 5-10 hours per month. There is an opportunity to work with the current Treasurer to ensure a smooth transition. If you like numbers or just into balancing your own checking account this is a small way to support a great organization.
